

Looking for participants!

Do you want to play a simple game on the computer and get paid €10? Then participate in the study “Human behaviour in the Mod-Signal Game”!

Anyone who is able to understand written English can participate in the study! All you have to do is play a simple game for 30-45 minutes on a computer with other players and fill in some questionnaires.

The experiment will take place in room 309 at the Bernoulliborg.

Are you interested in participating? Then sign up by following the link below or scanning the QR code. The experiment can only happen if there are a sufficient number of participants signed up for a time slot, so prioritize time slots that other people have already signed up for! You can also recruit your friends (if they also understand English) to sign up if there are not enough participants in a time slot!

If you have any questions about the experiment or signing up, you can send an e-mail to a.raveenthiran@student.rug.nl
